Dear Madam:

I inclose you the only scrap I have here of my dear and lamented husband's hand-writing. I am at precent far from home with a person who undertakes to cure spinal irritation, from which paintin complaint I have been a miserable enferer ever since the terrible shock I had in a mysterious Providence to innergo more than eight years ago. Wishing much success to the benevolent object you have in view, believe me, dear madam, to remain yours, truly, LYDIA MILLER.

co-laborers, and decked himself with borrowed garments which he assumed to be his own. From Lexington, he issued General Orders that infringed upon the rights of all Bureaus of the War Department, and set at naught all regulations of the army. In the recruising and organization of colored regiments, he claimed to be the great laborer, and for his claim was made Brigadier-General. He assumed to be the great champion of Kenincky freesinen, and was rewarded for his assumption. Mark how true a ristement will put him down. About twenty-four thousand negrose enlered the samy in Kentucky, and of this number at least twenty-two thousand were entered and mustered by District Proyost Marshals, who were under the centrol of Colonel W. H. Sidell. The remaining two thousand were enlisted and mustered by efficers detailed for that purpose by Colonel Sideil. Bribbin's efficers enlisted but few men, and minstered fewer; and, besides, Brisbin himself reported to Col. Sidell for orders and assignments; and yet Erisbin claimed credit for what Sidell had done, and was paid therefor. Verily, the impudence of man is more often repaid with the henors and emoluments of effice than is their worth! Brisbin prepare an army bill. Bah! Yin'a as well expect poetrs from Baalam's assi. It is to be hoped that newscapers will icarn to see the concreue between ment and assemption one of these das 5.

While writing on this endject, I mar say that I know Colonel W. H. Sideil, officially and privately. There is no man in the whole country who could have performed the labor mat he did as quietly and perfectly. His recruiting agents, thoroughly disciplined, entered every country in Kentucky and performed the labor allotted to them with that quietness that ever evinces system. There was no clashing of Intereste; no ambitious wrangling; no overriding of law. With his own kich eye, Sideli saw every movement of his liferiors, and checked every effort at disorganization. Understanding not only the spiril and word of the law, but the spirit of Kentucky, he performed the duties of his truly laborious office with wonderful tact and credit and honor to himself. Through his labors, nearly thirty trous and men were placed in the Federal army from Kentucky. Brissin can justic glain Located trough, because he del-mothing. And yet, forscoth, his shoulders were decked with stare, while those of the deserving were not thought to fit is fortunate for say man to have a relative in Congress, because he can then get with the waters.

The assessment derricts of Ke treky have been re-arranged, so that you have rine instead of five districts. Each district is composed of the counties that form a Congressional district. Each new appointments are made, all of the old officers being retained for the present. It is expected that the Senate will ast upon the nountations Monday next. There is considerable exchement amongst candidates for these appointments, as it has not vel been decided who shall hold the places. It is generally believed that both the position of assessor and collector are highly remunerative, kence the numberness applications of offices-eachers. In giving out these appointments, preference is given to discharged soldiers.

LYDIA MILLER
The contributions of Hngh Miller to the science of geology have made his name revered and beloved over the world. How much the value of this scrap of writing is enhanced when one remembers that for eight long years the stroke of his hammer has been silent—his great heart pulseless—his strong arm power-less!

Plus IX and Garibaidh have also contributed their antographs for this charity.

John Stnart Mill, M. P., writes: "Sneess to Kentneky, and may she speedily adopt the Constitutional Amendment. June, 1865."

The signatures on Abraham Lincoln and John G. Whittler have been added to the collection on enhibition, a few weeks since. In every instance, the autographs have been expressly contributed for the above charitable purpose, so that their authenticity cannot be questioned.

MORE STEAMBOAT EXPLOSIONS. - We are called upon to repeat the ghastly story of steamboat explosions. Two more steamers, the Missouri and the Mismi, have just been ex-They were full of passengers, and several hundred-we know not how manyhave been hurled in a twinkling into eternity Some were scalded to death; others had their lives crushed out of them; others lesped into the river, preferring death by drowning to the torimes they endured. Many who escaped with their lives have been seriously injured, if not crippled for life.

Nobody is, of course, to biame for thes slaughters. There never has been anyboly to blame for one that has ever occurred. These are all owing to the direct interposition of Providence, that delights to hear people screech in mortal agonies, to see them torn limb from limb, to witness the flesh to drop plecemeal from their bodies. If there is a detective boiler, the blame is unquestionably due to the neglect of Providence. If the bollers lack water, or if they are old and worn ont, or if the sleambeat is upon a race or carries too much steam, it is etill Providence, Providence that is the guilty party. Providence likes to see men, and epecially women and children, going up grace fully into the air, and then separating into small fragments or particles like sky-rockets. The same Providence is exceedingly pleased t have them roasted alive on steamboats before going to the bottom as food for fishes. Providence believes that cooked meat is better for the health of fishes than raw flesh.

It is really too much for one to witness the constant repetition of these murderous and damnable atrocities—nine-tenths of which we firmly believe to be preventable - without a burst of indignation against that culpable apathy of the anthorities of the land that take no steps to shield the community from their neverending recurrence. Why, if these slaughters are absolutely unavoidable, are they so rare in European waters? Why are they confined to our own rivers and lakes and seas? Why are propean steamers safe while American are moving volcances or reservoirs of boiling wanuenepecting victims are every month or two our rivers, lakes, and waters from this cause is about equal to that which would be produced by an ordinary army in actual war. At a single catastrophe of this kind last enmmer, on the Mississippi near Memphis, more than twelve hundred men, veteran soldiers of the Republic at that, perished in an hour! And has the re sponsibility for those twelve hundred murders been fixed upon anybody? Does anybody know how they happened? Not a bit of it. Congress cannot afford to devote its valuable time to so trifling an affair. It is engaged in the momentous and pressing business of bestowing enfirage upon negroes in the District of Columbia, upon the consummation of which the existence of the country, as well as of the heav-Traveling is every year upon the increase

Its vital importance de mande such a measure. It is due to the traveling community, which comprises a large portion of the entire community. The officers of ench a Burean should be men who will neither go to sleep nor accept briber; and their funcions ought to extend to the supervision of the building of every part of a steamer upon which the safety and lives of passengers depend, and to everything else having any bearing upon the same subject. What would a million or two doliars per annum be for the support of a Burean that should accomplish its object in com-parison with the saving of the hundreds and ousands of valuable lives now every year sacrificed for the want of it? The editor of the Democrat thinks that the Federal Government, if it needs an army a hundred and fifty thousand men ought to die. An editor who thinks this had better die himself. He willows of particles that constitute him.

Ah! then what do you think of the resolu-tions adopted by the Democratic and Conserva-tive convention in '61, that 'a Union held to-gether by the sword, with laws to be enforced by etanding armies, was not the Union our fa-there made, and was not worth preserving'? Democrat.

"Ah! then," you think that the only use a formidable standing army can be of is to hold the Union together by the sword. But it is a very general and we think a correct opinion, that, under the extraordinary and most ominous circumstances that now exist and are likely to exist for some time to come, an army of strength may be needed for other purposes. In consequence of the great events that have transpired and are transpiring and are almost certain to transpire hereafter, powerful forcer may be needed to check riot and insubordination and attempts at revolt North as well as South, although such things may not seriously threaten the Union. Not only must the Union be preserved, but it must be kept as far as possible in peace and order. The whites may need restraining in many localities, the freed blacks may need restraining in many more, and force, strong military force, may be wanted for the purpose. Besides, our foreign relations are not without peril, and it would not be strange if our Government were to think that we had better have for the present a standing army nearly equal to that of Great Britain or France. We do not express the opinion that the United States ought to have a standing army of a hundred and fifty thousand men, but we do say, that the declaration, that, rather than have such an army, we should let the Republic perish from smong the nations, is a most unworthy and unpatriotic one. He who values the Re-

BEAUTIFUL CONTRIBUTIONS .- An accomplished and benevolent lady of our city has collected about forty valuable antographs for the benefit of the Widow's Home, about to be crtablished in this city. Some of them, from the best male ery charming poems. The lady who collected them has done us the very kind favor to send ne a few, which we take great pieasure in pubii hing in this number of the Journal. They will be read with deep interest and will render very many persons of taste analous to obtain as many of the autographs as possible.

MEETING OF THE COUNCIL LAST NIGHT. - The two Boards met in General Council last night, d listened to Professor J. Lawrence Smith o e subject of rechartering the Louisville Gas Company. He estimates the cost of so extending the gas works as to furnish the city, Port land Avenue, and Portland, with light, at $131, 627. The Professor's remarks occupied about an hour. He minutely detailed the whole subject, and pointed out the advantages he thought the city would derive from the extension of the charter as proposed. Several members of the Council followed in speeches for and against the proposition, but the question remains nudecided. The purchase of the eteam fire-engine A. Y. Johnson, from Lane & Bodley, Cincinnati, for $7,500, was confirmed. A communication from General Boyle, President of the Chy Rallway Company, and a letter from the Quartermaster-General, Washington, D. C., relative to the military railroad on First street, was received and properly referred. A petition was presented and read remonstrati against the use of First street for railway purpurposes, as demanded by General Boyle. The report of the Wharlmaster for the month of January was read and referred. It exhibited the amount of receipte, $1,384; commissions, $103 81; expenses for repairing wharf, $139; paid into city treasury, $1,141 19. Charies Wahl, Flour Inspector, presented his report, showing the Inspection of 5,868 bbls, for the month of Jannary. The Interpreter of the City Court, George mae, petitioned to have his salary increased; rred to Police Committee. A resolution a the Board of Aldermen to adjourn until reday night next was transmitted to the lower Board p nding the discussion of the Gas question, but was not concurred in. Meanwhile, the Board of Aldermon adjourned, and

t'e General Council will have to meet again this evening. THE EXPLOSION OF THE STEAMER SCLTANA-TRIAL OF CAPT. SPEED. - Capt Frederick Speed, Assistant Adjutant-General of Volunteers, is belag tried by court martial at Vicksburg for loading the steamer Suitana as he did at that port in April last. Brevet Brigadier-General Chas. A. christ is Precident of the Court, and Lieuten-lonel U. S. Gibson Judge-Advocate. It is charged that Capt. Speed neglected to avail himself of the services of Capt. Hatch and Capt Kerne, Quartermasters in Vicksburg, to procure the necessary transportation for the paroled prisoners whose transfer to the North he was charged with superintending, but 'did himself assume to discharge the duties properly belonging to the aforesaid officers of the Quartermasters' Department by deciding and directing that a large detachment of the paroled prisoners aforesaid, about 1 866 in number, she transported northward from Vicksburg, Mississippi, on one steamer, the Sultana, against the advice and remonstrances of the aforesaid officers of the Quartermasters' Department, and the said Captain Speed did, by placing 1,886, or thereabouts, paroled prisoners on board, greatly overload the said steamer Sultana, whose lecarrying capacity was 876 passengers, which said steamer while making her trip with the 1,886 paroled prisoners aforesaid on board, at a point on the Minelseippl river about seven miles above Memphis, Tennessee, was destroyed by an explosion of the boiler or boilers and by fire and thereupon a large number, to wit .: 1,110, or thereabouts, of the paroled prisoners on board, wh se names are unknown, lost their lives by drowning, scalding and burning, and that the 1,110 paroled prisoners would not so have lost of vee by for the misconduct of said Cap-Speed in overloading said steamer Sultana." It is also charged that "at the same time other and better conditioned steamboats, to wit : Pauline Carroll and the Lady Gay, tain Speed pleaded "not guilty." ARREST AT THE CLAY STREET STATION .- Du; the month of January, eighty-five arrests nd fifteen stragglers were re Clay-street Station-house. The amount of fines imposed by the City Court and realized from base cases was $308. These figures show the manifest importance of auxiliary station. ouses in the city. By having their headonar ters and prison houses in the midst of their respective divisions, our policemen have more orinnities and better facilities for bringing anegressors to account. And while few of the really swilty escape arrest, others, by the nearness of the police and lock-np, are intimidated and good order preserved. It will be well for our anthorities to speed the completion of other tion-houses provided for. The officers on duty at Clay-etreet Scation-Wm E. Foreman and Lieut. Hipwell at night, Wm. Mr. Fessenden said that he would on Monday call up the Constitutional Amendment, which was pussed by the House vesterday, and would endeavor to keep it before the Scuate until it was passed. There were a number of State Legislatures in session at present and it was desirable to get the amendment before them at an early day.

Mr. Howard called up the resolution offered by him some time since recommending the trial of Jeff Davis and C. C. Clay by a military commission for complicity in the assessination of Mr. Lincoin and the violation of the laws and sagges of war. He now offered an amendment to include with Davis and City such others as a cated in concert with them. On the 24th day of December he submitted a resolution of inquiry respecting the charges upon which Davis was confined, and in response to this the President sent a helef message, accompanied by two communications—one from the Secretary of War and the other from the Attorney-General.
